WHAT IS INSIDER RISK?

Insider risk refers to the potential for employees, contractors, or other trusted individuals within an organisation to intentionally or unintentionally cause harm, such as data theft, sabotage, or fraud. This risk stems from their authorised access to sensitive information, systems, or assets. Effective insider risk management combines proactive measures and employee training to safeguard the organisation's resources and reputation.

WHY ACT ON INSIDER RISK?

Insider risk presents a clear and present danger to your organisation, with internal actors capable of causing data breaches, sabotage, or fraud. Such incidents can severely impact your financial health and reputation. Given insiders' access to sensitive information, immediate action is crucial. Implementing effective insider risk management strategies is essential to protect your assets and maintain trust. Act now to mitigate the risks.
